Innovation and security in personal data and money management since 2000

“We are a leading international provider of personal data management solutions.

What makes eWise unique is our consumer-centric approach to data management, focusing on security, privacy and ownership.

Starting from a legal intuition, in 2000 we invented Client-Side Aggregation, a unique way for users to privately and securely aggregate, store and manage their personal data on their own devices.”

Putting the consumer first

The importance and ethics of personal data protection was the founding seed of the eWise philosophy. Helping consumers regain privacy and security over their personal data is eWise's core mission.

Tuning into the personal data evolution

Personal information has tremendous economic value for both consumers and enterprises; users need to reclaim and gain control of their own data.

eWise AEGIS solution uses patented client-side aggregation technology allowing users to consolidate their personal data, control, access and share it on their terms. eWise has applied this concept to Money Manager, its unique personal financial management solution.

Transforming the rapport between user and service provider eWise believes that having financial data in one place that the user can choose to share in return for value-added services is mutually beneficial. Rebalancing the data symmetry between the user and the service provider will revolutionise their relationship, allowing consumers to expect more value based on the data they share.

An instinct that has proven to be a winner eWise has delivered award-winning solutions to many of the world's most innovative financial services brands including retail banks, financial advice firms and Fintech. Headquartered in Switzerland, eWise has operations in Europe and Asia-Pacific. eWise holds patents in Europe, Asia, Australia and the United States.
